Mayor's Corner: Choose to be kind

It's that time of year when January's well-intentioned resolutions start to fade, and we become distracted by daily responsibilities and demands on our time. Are New Year's resolutions doomed to failure? Are they meaningless gestures? The answer: Yes and No.

The power of choice lies within each of us. We choose where to live. We choose what to eat. We choose who to befriend. We choose how to spend our money. And yes, we choose whether or not to follow through with our New Year's resolutions.

For 2012, I would like to challenge the citizens of Oro Valley to make a simple, yet powerful choice: Choose to be kind.

When we choose to be kind, we find ourselves making a positive difference in the lives of others.

When we choose to be kind, we are modeling good citizenship for the youth of our community.

When we choose to be kind, we are building upon personal integrity.

When we choose to be kind, we are looking for and celebrating the good in others.

When we choose to be kind, we open the door to growth and possibilities.

When we choose to be kind, we are showing respect for and placing value on each individual.

Life is not without its challenges and disappointments, but the power of choice allows us to guide the situation instead of being controlled by the situation. The simple, uncomplicated choice to be kind is perhaps the most powerful choice of all.

Respectfully,
Dr. Satish I. Hiremath, Mayor

Don Cox

Cox, Rosenbaum named Volunteers of the Year

At its annual Volunteer Appreciation Reception on December 8, 2011, the Town of Oro Valley named Don Cox and Jill Rosenbaum 2011 Man and Woman Volunteers of the year.

Don Cox

Don Cox was elected to the Town's Planning and Zoning Commission in January 2011, having served previously from 2000 to 2005. He has also served as Chairman of the Host Committee for the annual Governor's Statewide Development Conference. Don has donated his time to focus on quality-of-life issues which impact our residents and has assisted with a number of Dispose-A-Med events.

Jill Rosenbaum

Jill Rosenbaum began volunteering with the Oro Valley Police Department Citizen Volunteer Assistance Program (CVAP) in May 2004, having earned more than 1,500 hours of service. She keeps the volunteer program operational, tracking all volunteers and equipment and ensuring there are adequate supplies. Jill walks each new volunteer through the required steps of the process.

Pierce named Pima Regional SWAT Operator of the Year

Oro Valley Police Officer Zachary Pierce has been named the Pima Regional SWAT Operator of the Year by his peers on the Regional SWAT team. The T. J. Price Pima Regional SWAT Team Member of the Year Award is given annually to the member of the team who personifies the model SWAT officer, demonstrating outstanding leadership skills, exceptional competency, humility, dedication and loyalty to the Team. "I am humbled to be nominated by my peers for this award," said Officer Pierce.

Officer Pierce has been with the Oro Valley Police Department (OVPD) for fourteen years. He received his AA in Criminal Justice from Pima Community College and went to work immediately for OVPD. His dream was to follow in his father's footsteps and join the Marines. Unfortunately, asthma prevented him from enlisting, so Pierce chose to serve his community as a law enforcement officer. His service with OVPD has included three years on patrol, one year on the narcotics task force and almost ten years as a motorcycle officer.

Officer Pierce has been a member of SWAT for eleven years, the past seven serving on the Regional SWAT team, of which he is an original member.

Zach is married to his wife, Nicole. They have a rescue pit bull mix, Trak, named after the police academy driving track where he was found.

Congratulations to Officer Pierce on this prestigious honor.

Monday – Friday: 9 a.m. to 8 p.m.
Saturday: 9 a.m. to 7 p.m.
Sunday: 10 a.m. to 5 p.m.

Massage therapy is for everyone! It is a simple way to enhance the quality of your life. Rubs Massage Studio's vision is to "refresh and nourish the body and spirit by providing quality and affordable massages to as many people as possible." Rubs offers a wide variety of services ranging from massages to facials. The therapists are passionate about ensuring a results-oriented massage experience for your mind, body and spirit.

Shelene Taylor, CEO of Rubs Massage Studio, began as a massage therapist in 1987 right here in Tucson. After only two months as a massage therapist, Shelene had established a strong clientele with whom she decided to open her own massage studio. With only drive, passion and the will to succeed, Shelene worked around the clock seven days a week to turn a one-studio massage business into a multi-studio, multi-million dollar massage business.

In March of 2011, Shelene founded the International Association of Massage Business (IAMBiz) dedicated to assisting massage business entrepreneurs in building a successful business. As a member of the association, entrepreneurs receive manuals, forms and contracts designed specifically for the massage industry. Through the creation of IAMBiz, Shelene provides shortcuts that can help massage business entrepreneurs establish and accelerate a strong business.

"I have always wanted Rubs to come to Oro Valley, but business is all about timing," Shelene stated. Rubs Massage Studio's recent move is due in part to Mayor Hiremath's philosophy on business: being committed to seeing businesses succeed. She remarked, "That kind of support is invaluable, and I am thrilled to be there."

Each and every service a Rubs therapist provides is customized to meet the client's needs. While most clients venture to Rubs to alleviate stress, massage therapy also helps relieve back, neck or shoulder pain, as well as treat migraines and carpal tunnel.

If you are ready to experience the long lasting benefits of massage therapy, lay back, relax and let your stress melt away at Rubs!

Oro Valley Magistrate Court Community Restitution Program

The Oro Valley Magistrate Court offers a community restitution program, providing an opportunity for eligible individuals to "work off" their fine. This may include those who have been ordered to pay a fine on a misdemeanor charge or a sanction on a traffic ticket they received from the Oro Valley Police Department. The program has been in existence for 12 years and is at the discretion of the Town's Magistrate, George Dunscomb.

Participants in the Community Restitution Program perform tasks necessary to the Town's operation—tasks that might otherwise be contracted out or not done at all due to budgetary constraints. Defendants who have participated in this program have completed various assignments around Town Hall, including painting a shed, applying roof coating, assisting staff with new landscaping, cleaning the grounds and washing Oro Valley Police Department vehicles. Last year, 1091 hours were worked, which satisfies $16,365 in fines.

"This is a win-win situation," said Judge Dunscomb. "Qualified individuals who have limited or no resources can satisfy their financial obligations to the Court, while helping the Town complete work without dipping into the Town's budget. Additionally, the court does not have to expend time and resources on collecting the amounts owed. The primary goal is to get fines satisfied, and at the same time, get as much value for the Town as we can."

Steam Pump Ranch Tours - Free & open to the public Saturday, February 4, 10 a.m. - 3 p.m.

In celebration of the Arizona Centennial, the Town of Oro Valley, the Oro Valley Historic Preservation Commission and the Oro Valley Historical Society will sponsor a tour of historic Steam Pump Ranch. This event will take place on Saturday, Feb. 4, 10 a.m. - 3 p.m. It is free and open to the public. Guided tours will be given of the recently-restored Pusch ranch house, built in the mid 1870s. There will also be fun activities for children. The ranch property, which is now owned by the Town of Oro Valley, was recently put on the National Register of Historic Places.

Join us for an afternoon of family-friendly activities, including: music, cooking demonstrations, adobe brick making, horse shoeing demonstrations, horse-drawn wagon rides, a presentation on historic gardens, period costumes, food booths, story-telling and informational displays.

Steam Pump Ranch got its name from the steam pump that was used to pump water for the cattle. In the late 1800s, the Pusch ranching interests extended north, almost to Florence, AZ, and there were an estimated 10,000 head of cattle. George Pusch, his wife Mathilda and their six children lived at the ranch part of the year. The family also had a home in Tucson, a butcher shop and a slaughterhouse.

Pusch served on the Territorial Legislature, and in 1910, he was one of five men from Pima County to be elected to the Constitutional Convention. Fifty-two delegates in all were elected to the Convention, which was held in Phoenix, October to December, 1910. These men drafted a Constitution to make Arizona a State, which was eventually signed by President Taft on February 14, 1912.

Centennial memorabilia now on display at the OV Public Library

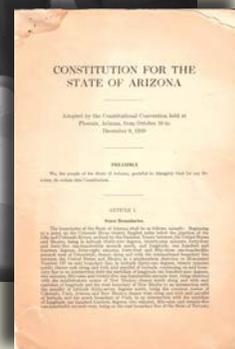

Happy Birthday Arizona! On February 14, our state will turn 100 years old. In honor of this milestone, the Oro Valley Historical Society has set up a showcase of Pusch memorabilia from the 1910 Constitutional Convention. The display will be available for viewing through mid-March.

In 1910 George Pusch, who owned Steam Pump Ranch was elected to the Constitutional Convention. He was one of five delegates elected from Pima County. The 52 delegates elected from all over the Arizona Territory were asked to write a constitution to make the territory a state. Despite problems and delays, this document was submitted and approved by Congress. On Feb. 14, 1912, President William Taft signed the bill, making Arizona the 48th State in the Union.

Many of the featured items were donated to the Society by Henry Zipf, (Pusch's grandson) and the Zipf Family.

Welcome winter rains

Monsoon rains can be unpredictable and dangerous at times. The year of 2011 was an extremely memorable year in relation to hazardous weather across the United States. But as volatile as Arizona monsoons can be, they potentially make up half of our annual precipitation which is around 10-12 inches. Winter rains on the other hand may still be variable at times but they provide us with the slow soaking rain that “sticks.” What do the winter rains mean for us? Rain is able to soak into our soil instead of quickly running off as it does during the monsoon. Landscape plants will require much less water from irrigation, if any, depending on the amount of rain received. Native plants and wildlife depend on this rain also. So relax and soak in the winter rains.

Winter water-saving tips

Monitor your water bill for unusually high use. Your bill and water meter are tools that can help you discover leaks.

If your shower fills a one-gallon bucket in less than 20 seconds, replace the showerhead with a water-efficient model. Check out the low flow shower heads and aerators available at the Oro Valley Water Utility.

Save water by using a broom instead of a hose to clean your driveway, sidewalk and patio.

Let your lawn go dormant during the winter. Dormant grass only needs to be watered every three weeks or less if it rains.

Call for a one-time free water audit from the Oro Valley Water Utility at 229-5024. We will assess water use both inside and outside your home. Save water and money!

Know the signs of over- and under-watering your plants

Over-watering

- Soil is constantly damp
- Leaves turn a lighter shade of green or turn yellow
- Young shoots are wilted
- Leaves are green but brittle
- Mushrooms and algae are growing

Under-watering

- Soil is dry
- Older leaves turn yellow or brown or drop off
- Leaves are wilted
- Leaves curl
